Special Guest: Captain Scott O'Grady

A former United States Air Force Captain and fighter pilot, Scott O'Grady gained prominence after he ejected over Bosnia when his F-16 was shot down while he patrolling a no-fly zone. For six days he eluded Serb forces, surviving on rainwater, grass and insects, before being rescued by the US Marines.

O'Grady was subsequently awarded the Bronze Star for heroism, a Purple Heart and the Air Force Commendation for meritorious service. He continued to fly the F-16 another three years after his rescue, serving a total of 12 years.

O'Grady tells his incredible story of survival in his book, Return With Honor.
